Melodrama and Meaning is a major addition to the new historical approach to film studies. Barbara Klinger shows how institutions most associated with Hollywood cinema—academia, the film industry, review journalism, star publicity, and the mass media—create meaning and ideological identity for films. Chapters focus on Sirk's place in the development of film studies from the 1950s through the 1980s, as well as the history of the critical reception (both academic and popular) of Sirk's films, a history that outlines journalism's role in public tastemaking. Other chapters are devoted to Universal's selling of Written on the Wind, the machinery of star publicity and the changing image of Rock Hudson, and the contemporary "institutionalized" camp response to Sirk that has resulted from developments in mass culture. Ursula Klinger-Omenka, author of The Secrets of Precious Stones and Gemstone Power Meditation, successful best-sellers throughout the world, connects two natural, healing powers for an effective mutual effect in Reiki with Gemstones. While Reiki, the universal life energy, brings the physical and emotional functions back into their original harmony, gemstones concentrate light-filled powers and color vibrations into the chakras, whose unrestricted functioning is greatly important for vitality and well-being. By connecting Reiki and gemstone therapy, the powers of self-healing are activated in a natural manner. The author writes on the basis of many years of rich experience in working with Reiki and gemstones. She trustingly places her perceptions into the hands of the reader, who can put them to practical use for the good of all beings with a short time. "As she felt the cold metal barrel against her head, Grace closed her eyes tight and heard a fast click. She wasn't surprised when the sharp, hot wind rushed across her face. As she felt herself lift away she saw the children on the street. But they were too far away and hadn't heard the gunshot. She watched Alfred below shaking as he stood over her lifeless body. No one would understand what brought him to this. Was it a family curse that led to the murder of Grace Harper at the hands of her husband in 1975? This is the question that her great-granddaughter, Ellie, seeks to find in The Other Side of Silence. Though Ellie has never met her great-grandmother in life, following a car accident she awakes to find herself face-to-face with the woman who lived a lifetime before she was born"--Page 4 of cover. In Learning with Information Systems the author takes the developing world as the context and through a series of case studies develops a commonly used systems analysis methodology. He demonstrates how this methodology can evolve and adapt as new ideas become prominent. Issues of sustainability of information systems, participation in systems design and user ownership of systems are all examined. This book does not attempt to be prescriptive for all contexts nor does it focus on any particular technology. It addresses the essential questions and promises practical approaches which will help in the avoidance of the worst forms of disaster associated with the planning of information systems for developing countries. An innovative survey of large-scale ocean circulation that links observations, conceptual models, numerical models, and theories. Many bridge errors arise from a poor memory, and those who learn to improve their memories will automatically improve their games. This book covers beginner, intermediate, and advanced players; rather than just a course of memory lessons, it helps one learn and remember what is important to bridge players. Conventions are a vital element of bidding in bridge, and unless they are clearly understood, they can be destructive. Ron Klinger, one of the world's top bridge teachers, explains each convention, exploring in detail how it can be used—and how it is often misused.
